The Sioux City Art Center is a model public/private partnership between the City of Sioux City and Art Center Association of Sioux City.

During 2013 – 2014 the Art Center began celebrating its centennial with an event honoring the visionary leaders who founded the Society of Fine Arts in May 1914. The fundraising event also served to honor several current supporters: the Aalfs Family Foundation, Chesterman Family Foundation, Gardner Family Foundation, Gilchrist Foundation, M. A. Martin Everist Foundation and the Junior League of Sioux City. As the social hour of the event unfolded I had the opportunity to speak with a local businessman. We talked about the community's history of support and he recalled a time when he was recruited to Sioux City to manage a business. The owner told him that he had two jobs: one, to run the business; and, two, to make our community a better place to live.

That commitment to making our community a better place to live runs deep through both our private and public sector. While it was private citizens and businesses that created and nurtured the vision of the Art Center from 1914 - 1940, the City of Sioux City joined in 1941, when the city council voted to financially support the Art Center and established a board of trustees to oversee the City's financial commitment. This public/private partnership continues to this day, allowing the Art Center to remain stable and thrive. As a result of the partnership, the Art Center is able to take on major exhibitions like Jackson Pollock: Mural that is currently on view at the Art Center through April 1, 2015. While the Pollock exhibition did not open until July 12, 2014, the fundraising and preparation for the blockbuster exhibition was a consistent focus of the preceding year.

Additional highlights of 2013-2014 include the commissioning and installation of a major outdoor sculpture on the south lawn of the Art Center. Michael Dunbar's large fabricated bronze sculpture, Touched by the Sun, joined John Henry's 54-foot tall steel and aluminum sculpture, Sioux City, located on the west lawn of the Art Center. The two major sculptures have significantly enhanced the Art Center's campus. The Art Center celebrated both major sculptures with new educational publications available at the Art Center.

In addition, as part of the Art Center's new partnership with Sculpt Siouxland, additional outdoor sculpture sites were added to the Art Center's campus, with plans to expand these sites to feature sculptures from Sculpt's growing permanent collection. The first two of these long-term loans is daRedevil, a fabricated steel sculpture, by Des Moines artist Rob Craig, and Sorcerer's Gate, by DeKalb, Illinois, artist Bruce White. In addition to the Sculpt works featured on the campus, the Sculpt exhibition has grown to 26 sculptures installed on Third, Fourth, Nebraska and Pierce Streets.

While the outdoor sculpture exhibition on campus continued to develop, last year's hits inside the Art Center included two one-person exhibitions: a retrospective of local artist, J. F. Goff (1920 – 2007); and, recent works by Iowa City artist Susan Chrysler White. Goff's exhibition, Still and Silent Places invited the viewer to reflect on the beauty of the regional landscape through his masterful water colors. In contrast, White’s intense mixed media paintings with their mandala-like patterns and bold layered images elicited a jaw dropping wow from visitors when they entered the gallery. Both shows will be remembered.

These are just a few of last year’s highlights, as you read through the Annual Report you will see the full breadth of our programs, including an acknowledgment of the supporters that allow the Art Center to be an important part of our community's quality of life.

Al Harris-Fernandez
Art Center Director
Exhibitions during 2013-2014 included two ongoing exhibitions, Grant Wood’s Corn Room mural and The Sioux City Art Center Permanent Collection, which was moved in May 2014 to the third floor to allow the Margaret Ann Martin Everist Permanent Collection to host Jackson Pollock: Mural.

The two first-floor spaces, the Gardner Room and the Community Gallery, hosted ten temporary exhibitions; these included two exhibitions of artworks in the permanent collection, two exhibitions by the Sioux City Camera Club, one group exhibition by local quilters, two one-person exhibitions of local artists, two exhibitions of works produced by students in the Sioux City Community School District, and one exhibition of student work produced in the Art Center.

The third-floor galleries hosted nine exhibitions, including: two group exhibitions of regional artists, one exhibition of works by area schoolchildren, one one-person exhibition of a local artist, two one-person exhibitions of regional artists (one of which was presented as a Blockbuster exhibition, in conjunction with a major outdoor sculpture commission), one traveling international exhibition, and two exhibitions of permanent collection artworks.

Docent Program
Our team of twelve dedicated volunteer docents consistently attended informative and educational tours given at the beginning of every new exhibition by the director, curator and studio program coordinator. We are extremely grateful to the docents for conducting 101 tours, serving 1,794 children and adults. Included in these numbers is the ARTworks program, serving fifth grade students who receive free busing, a guided tour and an opportunity to create a piece of artwork based on the Grant Wood murals. There were 27 ARTworks tours with a total of 743 fifth-grade students.

Project SOAR
Student Opportunities for Art Research, held throughout the month of June, is intended for artistically-talented high school students who would enjoy and learn from an intense, fifteen-hour art workshop. This year’s Project SOAR utilized the expertise of three highly qualified artists and instructors including: Deb Gengle-Copple, (Pastel painting), Chris Holton (3-D multi-media) and Nan Wilson (painting). Eleven students from eight area high schools took advantage of this program which is underwritten by the Art Center Association of Sioux City.

Youth Art Month
In celebration of Youth Art Month, the Sioux City Art Center held its 26th Annual Juried Youth Art Exhibition for area high schools, from February 15 – April 6, 2014. This year’s juror, Nan Wilson, thoughtfully chose 95 pieces for the exhibition out of 410 submitted artworks. Of these 95 selected pieces, 12 schools and 19 instructors were represented. The opening reception on Sunday, February 17 was extremely well received with 300 children and adults filling the atrium. Mayor Bob Scott, Art Center Director Al Harris-Fernandez and Visual Arts Head Instructor Lance Hankins assisted in the presentation of awards.

Community requested Classes, Workshops and Outreach Programs
The Education Department hosted community requested workshops throughout the year for the following groups: Girl Scouts; Empty Bowls project; Siouxland Food Bank; DARE Lock-in; The Red Cross; Building Blocks Day Care (Sergeant Bluff); Building Blocks Day Care (Outer Drive, Sioux City), Ponca High School, Pinwheels for Peace, Mask Making Fall Fest, Quilt and Print workshop and South Sioux City’s Transition Program.

Education Gallery
The William T. Dible Hallway and the Metz Education Hallway on the second floor have been designated as spaces for hanging artwork created by students and faculty at the Art Center. The displays were changed a total of six times throughout the year and included student art, class schedules and other art-related subjects, such as the elements and principles of art.

Artful Birthday Parties
The Art Center has hosted 28 birthday parties in the past 12 months. Under the direction of our inventive teachers, 337 participants created fun projects and memories.

ArtCamp 2013
This was the ninth year the Art Center has hosted ArtCamp. This year’s camps were a huge success with 177 children attending. ArtCamp 2013 culminated with an exhibition of the children’s artworks, and a reception on September 29, 2013. These works were selected by the children and displayed from August 13 – September 29, 2013, in the Education Gallery on second floor.

Classes and Workshops
During the 2013-2014 quarterly semesters, 98 adult and children classes were offered at the Art Center. A total of 1,523 students participated in the classes for a total of 11,845.5 teacher-student contact hours. Nearly all of the adult classes were available for graduate credit or teaching license renewal credit through Northwest AEA, Briar Cliff University and Morningside College.

Holiday Gift-making Workshops
Our annual Holiday Workshops were held December 7, 2013. Eight art projects and refreshments were offered free of charge to the public. Under the guidance of four instructors, 160 children and adults participated in this fun annual event.

Spring Break Create-a-thon 2014
The Spring Break Create-a-thon provided youth classes taught by Debra Marquese and Karen Kinney. On April 15 – 17, 2014, twelve students (ages 9-14) attended painting, ceramic and 3-D classes at the Art Center.
